U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Reviews Cleanup of the Crown Cleaners of Watertown Superfund Site

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is conducting its second five-year review of the clean up at the Crown Cleaners of Watertown Superfund site, located in the Town of Wilna, Jefferson County, New York. This review seeks to confirm that the implemented clean up continues to protect people's health and the environment. The last five-year review was completed in August 2019. A summary of the review and an evaluation of the protectiveness of the implemented cleanup will be included in a five-year review report.

What is a Five-Year Review?

The purpose of a five-year review is to ensure that implemented cleanup plans at Superfund sites function as intended and continue to be protective of people's health and the environment. These regular reviews, which are required by federal law when contaminants remain at a site, include:

- inspecting the site and cleanup technologies;
- reviewing monitoring data, operating data, and maintenance records, and
- determining if any new regulatory requirements have been established since EPA's original cleanup decision was finalized.

When will the Five-Year Review Report be available?

It is anticipated that the five-year review report will be available at the website noted below by spring 2024.
